

Have you heard the story of the girl that grew wings?

In a world that showed no interest in her?

She worked hard and tried her best, but in vain she fails.

Have you seen the girl that grew wings?

Even after society chained her to the ground

She learned to fly.

Her family held on to her but wanted to let her fly.

They tried to let her go, but their desires to keep her home

Was greater than them.

Have you spoken to the girl that grew wings?

Her dream to touch the stars was greater than her,

She had heard, seen, felt so much pain

That wings grew, and she flew.
